

Biographical Sketch

Uvetta Dozier is an active member of Sigma Xi, the Scientific Research Honor Society and has taught biology courses at Bowie State University (Maryland) and Howard University (District of Columbia). These courses include Biological Science, Introduction to Biology, Botany, and Molecular Biology. She received her doctorate in Biology from Howard University. Prior to pursuing her doctorate, she was a biologist with the U. S. Department of the Interior. Her research has included investigating the shelf life of liquid products and investigating the Receptor for activated C kinase 1 protein. Additionally, she has led and participated in several outreach efforts that fostered increase awareness and participation in science by our youth.